Welcome back to Strong Auditorium!

Tonight's concert is an exploration of the full range of timbre, colour, and verve that a symphony orchestra can bring to bear on musical materials that are, by turns, sparse, disparate, narrative, and exceptionally rich. Richard Wagner's prelude to the third act of a larger-than-life opera, Jonathan Bailey Holland's references to an heroic journey to freedom, and David Diamond's first symphonic essay all qualify as epic musical statements. The musical forces with which each composer accomplishes those immense orchestral works are all now part of our musical vernacular. Enjoy!
