2022: REDISCOVERY & RESILIENCE

Covering international student data from academic year (AY) 2021-22, as reported in Open Doors; visiting student and researcher data, AY 2021-22; and education abroad data, AY 2021-22

This publication contains data and information regarding the University of Rochester's recent international outreach and engagement. While examining this data, consider that each of the numbers represents real people, partners, unique stories, and unlimited potential. We are proud of what these numbers reflect and for the bright future being created today—and every day—across our diverse campus.

As we continue navigating the impacts of COVID-19, we have reimagined our global educational experiences and research connections. We have found new and innovative ways of working together. And our momentum continues to build as we surmount the pandemic's clear challenges. The University of Rochester endures as an institution of global consequence. And within the Office for Global Engagement, we ensure we're leveraging these successes to meet the University's vision of Ever Better.

Global Engagement enables the University of Rochester to build enduring and sustainable international partnerships with peer institutions, hospitals, clinics, governments and NGOs, and research institutes around the world. Together with several campus reporting units and functions, we

- coordinate among Rochester's various schools, units, and individuals operating internationally;
- foster relationships with international stakeholders;
- collaborate with campus partners to develop efficient processes and programs that serve our core mission and goals;
- foster a unified campus mindset about global education and research;
- position the University for effective global engagement—on campus or abroad;
- support faculty, staff, and students with educational research, service projects, and programs on campus and abroad, aligning resources for maximum impact; and,
- partner with our academic and administrative units to gather, analyze, and present an annual report on the University's international connections and engagement.

We work each day to grow and strengthen our international community. Celebrate here the successes of 2021-22, even as we eagerly advance our goals for 2022-23. Meliora!
