Promotion of Brad Mahon to Associate Professor with tenure

I fully support Brad Mahon's promotion to Associate Professor with tenure. Brad is obviously is a highly successful scientist with a high impact. He has published an unusually large number of papers for someone at his career stage, covering several independent lines of research. His work on work using MRI and behavioral measures to predict long-term outcome after brain injury is ground breaking. He is one of the leading contributors to research on the neural organization of conceptual knowledge, as also evidence from the glowing letters of recommendation.

My Regards,
