Course Expectations

Academic Policies

All students are expected to comply with School and University academic policies. <https://www.warner.rochester.edu/students/matriculated/policies>

My expectations of students

What is expected of the student? How often should they participate in the course? How much work should they be expected to do in and out of class?

This is a graduate level course; therefore, students are expected to do extensive reading and writing of graduate level quality. Students are expected to spend one week to spend on this course between reading and class participation.

All students are expected to do well in the course and the instructor will strive to help them achieve. The instructor also expects the student to be prepared to do so.

Students should also strive to help each other as best they can. The instructor expects everyone to be kind and courteous to each other and to collaborate and "co-construction" of knowledge. The instructor expects that students will take advantage of that. In addition, the instructor expects students to be honest and to follow the University of Rochester policy on Academic Honesty.

For online discussions, you will need to post comments that are substantive. Substantive comments, for our purposes, are those that add insight, probe more deeply, challenge (intellectually), and generally help us learn. It is also helpful to post comments that are "social" in nature. So, while, "I agree" is not a substantive comment, it is a useful response in that it helps us know that we are being "heard". But you will need to post substantive comments to "get credit" for discussions. I also encourage you to edit before you post. This course is a graduate course, it is expected that you will carefully read and edit your work prior to sending it. It can be helpful to compose using a word processor to prevent cosmetic errors; this way you can concentrate on demonstrating your highest quality writing.

Course Etiquette

You are encouraged to follow appropriate "netiquette" and be kind, thoughtful and supportive. The following are as follows:

1. Remember the human.
2. Adhere to the same standards of behavior online that you follow in real life.
3. Know where you are in cyberspace.
4. Respect other people's time and bandwidth.
5. Make yourself look good online.
6. Share expert knowledge.
7. Help keep flame wars under control.
8. Respect other people's privacy.
9. Don't abuse your power.
10. Be forgiving of other people's mistakes.

EDI 581 Module 2 Assignment:

Digital Natives and Immigrants Fact or Fiction, or Somewhere In-Between: a Wiki Collaborative Writing Project

Required text chapters to read: Understanding the Digital Generation chapters 1-7, and read/view additional material in the

The class text, Understanding the Digital Generation, academic articles and video interviews in the course folders present a picture of the theory of digital natives/students and digital immigrants. The first presented his study and concept of Digital Natives, Digital Immigrants in 2001. Since his study was presented, there has been newer research findings that are either in agreement with his research and create an annotated bibliography knowledge base of your findings.

Throughout the course, you will be working with your team to summarize the required readings and find supporting or contrasting studies/presentations on the concept of the digital generation research repository that looks at contrasting points of view. The module also has articles and videos from experts in the field for further reference, which are not required or shown.

Definition of Wiki:

1. Noun, plural wikis. (Sometimes initial capital letter) a website that allows anyone to add, delete, or revise content by using a web browser.
2. Also called wiki engine, wiki application. The software used to create a wiki.

What you will be doing:
