1950 Kenn Hubel writes: “At a time when most relevant class notes for the Class of 1950 appear in In Memoriam, I thought classmates might enjoy reading evidence of continuing survival. Dwight Hotchkiss and I last saw each other on graduation day in 1950. We had met the first day of school, had adjacent rooms in Burton, and were brothers in Theta Chi. Both of us became MDs: he a hematologist/oncologist, and I an academic gastroenterologist. We’ve stayed in touch over the years through Christmas letters and the occasional note. Now, both retired, and at their invitation, my wife, Jan, and I joined him and his wife, Maryann, at the Atlanta Jazz Party in late April, then visited at their home in western South Carolina. With many common interests it was easy to take up where we left off 64 years before. And we were not surprised that Dwight and Maryann also like Manhattans. That’s me with the beard.”

1957 Bob Mumford writes that he’s the photographer for the new Field Guide to the Natural World of Washington, D.C. (Johns Hopkins University Press). The book contains 97 of Bob’s photographs.

1958 Nancy Kelts Rice was honored by Lifespan of Rochester at its annual Celebration of Aging luncheon in March. Nancy volunteers as a hospice chaplain and works with patients in hospice care. Nancy was one of five honorees at the event, attended by about 1,400 people, and headlined by Grammy Award-winning country singer Naomi Judd.

1960 Anne Loveland has published Change and Conflict in the U.S. Army Chaplain Corps Since 1945 (University of Tennessee Press). Anne is the T.H. Williams Professor Emerita at Louisiana State University.

1961 George Kimeldorf, a retired mathematics professor at the University of Texas at Dallas, writes that he’s published From Seeker to Finder: Discovering Everyday Happiness (Newlog Publishing). . . . Robert McCaughey has published A Lever Long Enough: A History of Columbia’s School of Engineering and Applied Sciences Since 1864

(Columbia University Press). Robert is a professor of history and the Janet H. Robb Chair in the Social Sciences at Barnard College.

1964 Bill Kaplin, professor of law emeritus at Catholic University, writes that he's had new editions of two of his books published: The Law of Higher Education (Fifth Edition) and its companion, The Law of Higher Education (Fifth Edition): Student Version (Wiley).

1968 David Rosenbloom writes that he's been appointed to the board of directors and medical review board of an organization contracted by Medicare to provide oversight for 37,000 dialysis patients in Southern California. The organization is called FMQAI ESRD Network 18 for Southern California. David battled end-stage kidney disease before receiving a successful transplant in 2008. The following year, he left the business he'd started, producing custom wood furniture and cabinetry, to work full time as a kidney patient educator. Working with the kidney transplant team at the University of Southern California's University Hospital, he mentors pre- and post-kidney transplant patients.

1970 Anne Scholl Moore '74M (MD) is founding director of the pediatric hospitalist program at the Wyoming Medical Center in Caspar, Wyo. She adds: "I'm also assisting in establishing a pediatric hospitalist program in Cheyenne. My daughter, Laura, is finishing her PhD in nanotechnology in May, and on to finishing her MD at Northwestern University. Go, Laura!"

Alumni Receive Recognition

Several alumni were honored this spring for their professional achievements and service to their fields.

A noted composer and music educator along with leading executives in aerospace engineering, retail management, and financial services were honored by the University at regional events this spring.

Part of a series of events throughout the year to recognize alumni for their career achievements and for their service to their alma mater, this spring's ceremonies highlighted alumni from the Eastman School of Music, the Hajim School of Engineering & Applied Sciences, and the Simon Business School.

EASTMAN SCHOOL OF MUSIC

Samuel Hope '67E

Distinguished Alumni Award
Hope is the retired executive director of the National Association of Schools of Music, a national accrediting organization founded in 1924 by longtime Eastman leader Howard Hanson and other collegiate music leaders.

He has also served as director of the National Association of Schools of Art and Design, the National Association of Schools of Theatre, and the National Association of Schools of Dance. The four independent organizations accredit more than 1,200 arts institutions and entities, primarily in higher education.

Hope received a bachelor's degree in composition from Eastman, where he studied with Robert Gauldin, Louis Mennini, Burrill Phillips, Bernard Rogers, and Wayne Barlow, as well as with Nadia Boulanger in France.

A noted composer, he has had his work performed by American orchestras, choirs, and chamber ensembles.

He has also written and spoken widely on the arts, education, and evaluation.

being named segment president in 2005. Carmola serves on the Hajim Dean's Advisory Committee and is a member of the George Eastman Circle, the University's leadership annual giving society.

SIMON BUSINESS SCHOOL

Colleen Wegman '00S (MBA)

Distinguished Alumnus Award
Wegman is president of Wegmans Food Markets Inc., an 83-store supermarket chain headquartered in Rochester.

The company has built an international reputation for its overall excellence in quality, customer service, and variety, and for 17 consecutive years, it has been named to Fortune magazine's list of the "100

Best Companies to Work for in America" including being ranked the top company in 2005.

Wegman received an MBA from Simon in 2000. Beginning her career with Wegmans in 1991, she became a senior vice president in 2001. In 2005, she was named president of the company by her grandfather, the late Robert Wegman.

Since 2007, she has been a member of the Food Marketing Institute's Board of Directors.

Active in the United Way of Greater Rochester, Wegman chaired the 2010 campaign and chaired the organization's Board of Directors in 2014.

Ronald Fielding '73 (MA), '76S (MBA)

Dean's Medal

The retired chief strategist and senior vice president of the Rochester division of Oppenheimer Funds Inc., Fielding managed the company's Rochester municipal and convertible bonds for more than 25 years. In 1980 he founded Fielding Management and The Rochester Funds, which he sold to Oppenheimer in 1995.

He earned a master's degree in 1973, followed by an MBA from Simon three years later. Fielding has been a member of Simon's Executive Advisory Committee since 2005, and he also serves on the Simon National Council and the Simon Campaign Committee.

He established the Ronald H. Fielding Scholarship Fund in 1996 to provide support for Simon students.

A 1995 recipient of the Simon Distinguished Alumnus Award, he is also a member of the George Eastman Circle, the University's leadership annual giving society.

FOOTBALL ALUMNI

Dinner with the Coach

A record number of former Yellowjacket football players took part in this spring's annual "Dinner with the Coach" to honor Pat Stark, who coached the team from 1969 to 1983, and to renew their ties as classmates, teammates, and friends.

Nearly 40 football alumni gathered at an East Rochester restaurant in April, coming from as far away as Los Angeles for the get-together. A member of Rochester's Athletics Hall of Fame, Stark led the Yellowjackets to 60 victories, including a 12-game winning streak that still stands as a program record for consecutive wins.

DEDICATED SERVICE: Rochester City School No. 8 dedicated its library earlier this year in honor of Robert Williams '59 (second from left). He was joined by Pat Coakley, the chair of Rochester Rotary's School No. 8 scholarship committee, School No. 8 graduate Iniabasi Ikpot, John White, a past president of Rochester Rotary, and Iniabasi's parents, Zacch and Nse Ikpot.

ALUMNI VOLUNTEERS

Honoring 'Mr. Bob'

For nearly 20 years, Robert Williams '59 has been a regular presence at Roberto Clemente School No. 8 in the Rochester City School District. He's so well-known as a volunteer and tutor that students affectionately refer to him as "Mr. Bob."

In recognition of his commitment, the library at the school was dedicated in his honor earlier this year. A member of the Rochester Rotary Club since 1974, Williams started working with the school when the Rochester group began an "Adopt-a-School" program 19 years ago.

Since then, he's been at the school nearly every day, supporting youngsters in their academic work. Most recently, he was a scholarship coach to Iniabasi Ikpot, a relationship that began when Iniabasi was in second grade at School No. 8 and continued through his senior year at McQuaid Jesuit High School.

of the Year. A partner at the Philadelphia law firm Stradley Ronon, William is a member of the board of managers of the Abington YMCA and led the organization's annual giving campaign.

1991 Mark Biermann (PhD) (see '84 College).

1994 David Skanderson (PhD) has been named a vice president in the financial economics practice of the Boston financial and regulatory consulting firm Charles River Associates.

Eastman School of Music

1949 Composer Emma Lou Diemer (MM) has released three recordings: Going Away: Violin Works by Emma Lou Diemer (True Tone Productions); Emma Lou Diemer (Albany Records); and Attracting Opposites: New Music for Piano Trio (Azica Records).

1955 Raymond Handfield has been musical director and conductor of the Callanwolde Concert Band, a DeKalb County, Ga., symphonic wind ensemble, for 30 years. To celebrate Raymond's 30 years of service, the band performed a concert in his honor, featuring the 1851 composition Raymond Overture by Ambrose Thomas.

1960 Emma Lou Diemer (PhD) (see '49).

1961 George Giroux (MA) sends an update. He writes: "I am amazed that the talented young musicians at Eastman continue to matriculate while amassing large debts. I think back to my brief time at Eastman, getting a master's in music theory with just three summers of intense study plus a weekly clarinet lesson with Stan Hasty during the regular school year in 1961 and writing a thesis, all under the GI Bill. How lucky I was." George lives near Albany, N.Y., and adds: "I am very fortunate to be playing solo jazz piano regularly at some of the capital district's finest night clubs at the age of 80. I spent 45 years in Rochester doing the same thing while teaching for 34 of those years."

1966 Johnny Russo, director of the Ithaca, N.Y., based East Hill Classic Jazz Band, sent his recollections of Igor Stravinsky's five-day visit to the Eastman School in March 1966. He calls them "The Day I Made Stravinsky Smile." He writes: "I played trombone in the Eastman Philharmonia. We had prepared for weeks for the visit of Stravinsky and his incredible assistant, Robert Craft. All week, 'the 20th-century Beethoven' sat on stage showing no emotion, as he was about 80. At the final Saturday morning rehearsal, he took the podium to run us through his most famous work, Firebird Suite. The trombones are the least used in symphonic scores, so one sits and counts numerous silent measures while the strings and woodwinds swirl in tons of notes. But near the end of the piece, I had a forte fortissimo B-natural note, my big moment to impress this emotionless fellow with the baton. How proud I was to hit this note, and it shook the entire Eastman Theatre! Stravinsky, hearing the blast, glanced in my direction and gave a big smile, and if to say, 'Look at that wild-looking trombone player.' That image, the look, the moment's excitement is in my memory forever. Eastman School director Walter Hendl made this experience happen for those of us in the Philharmonia. He did a lot for Eastman students during his tenure."

1969 Max Stern has published a book, Psalms and Music: Influences of the Psalms on Western Music (Ktav Publishers). The book explores the influence of the Psalms in a variety of genres and historical periods. . . . Diane Seufert Tait has published a book, Letters from Italy (Piquant Press). The book consists of diary entries as well as letters, "giving an intimate account of a year's residency in Italy," she writes.

1970 Geary Larrick (MM) writes that he's celebrating 65 years of playing keyboard percussion. "I perform regularly in central Wisconsin, where I'm a retired music professor from the University of Wisconsin-Stevens Point. I've written 10 books, 123 reviews, 173 music compositions, and 207 articles and letters. In March, I presented three programs in Stevens Point featuring Women's History Month selections, including some of my own work." Geary's most recent published article is "African American History and the Marimba," which appeared in the spring 2014 issue of the National Association of College Wind and Percussion Instructors Journal.

1975 David Harman (DMA) writes that he retires at the end of this season after serving for 21 years as conductor and music director of the Rochester Philharmonic Youth Orchestra. He'll continue as professor of music and director of orchestral activities for the College and music director and conductor

Did You Know? . . . A Library Is at Your Fingertips

Maybe you want to be able to access news from papers and magazines around the world.

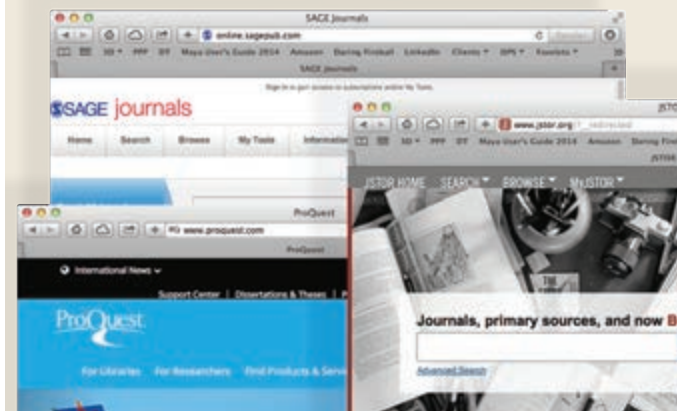

Or perhaps you want to start a business, but need to do in-depth market research.

Your ability to access information through the University Libraries doesn't end when you graduate. As an alumnus, you can sign up for full, free access to some of the largest online databases of scholarly and magazine articles, news from trade publications, and newspapers from around the world.

The premium databases include:

- JSTOR: Full-text scholarly articles from all disciplines, dating from the 19th century to the past five years. Subject areas include business, ecology, economics, education, finance, history, literature, mathematics, population studies, and more.
- Proquest Alumni Edition: Full-text articles on all topics, with a focus on business. Includes current and past issues of journals, magazines, newspapers, and trade publications; country and industry reports; and some market data.
- Sage Journals: Full-text journals in a variety of disciplines, including current and past issues. Areas include business, humanities, social sciences, science, technology, and medicine.

A University Net ID number is all you need to access the resources. You can get one by emailing alumni@rochester.edu with your name (include maiden name, if applicable), address, class year, and school. You'll receive a one-time code and instructions for receiving the ID.

of the Penfield (N.Y.) Symphony Orchestra.

1977 Phil Hildreth writes that he's been appointed director of music by the Unitarian Universalist Church of Fort Myers, Fla. He conducts the choir as well as a music team for each Sunday service.

1981 Dan Locklair (DMA) has released Tapestries (MSR Classics), a CD of choral music.

1985 Helene Pohl writes: "I've been first violinist in the New Zealand String Quartet since February 1994. We play concerts all over New Zealand and enjoy tours that have taken us to many corners of the globe. In December, we spent two-and-a-half weeks in Beijing preparing a program, Tales from the Forbidden City, with the Forbidden City Chamber Orchestra, a group of 13 virtuosic Chinese instrument players.

Repertoire included all new works by New Zealand and Chinese composers. It was a success beyond our imaginings, with not only the Chinese instruments a beautiful tonal and coloristic match for the string quartet, but the new works a wonderful addition to our repertoire. We played a concert inside Beijing's Forbidden City in December and in March toured the program in New Zealand. In other news, the Ying Quartet will join us for our Adam Chamber Music Festival in New Zealand in January 2015. I'm terrifically excited to spend some time with them again, and to make beautiful music together!" The Ying Quartet consists of Janet Ying '92, Phil Ying '91, '92 (MM), David Ying '92 (DMA), and Ayano Ninomiya, associate professor of string chamber music and of violin at the Eastman School.

1989 Johanna Siebert (MA), '08 (PhD) has won a 2014 Rochester Philharmonic Orchestra Award for outstanding music educators. Johanna is the director of fine arts for the Webster Central School District, near Rochester, where she supervises about 60 teachers in music and visual arts. She's also a member of the music standards writing team for the National Coalition for Core Arts Standards, the group designing Common Core arts standards. During her career, she's mentored new teachers in the Rochester City School District, taught K-8 general music and chorus at urban and suburban schools, as well as graduate-level curriculum courses at the Eastman School.

1991 Thomas Lanners (DMA), professor of piano at Oklahoma State University, writes that he's been named the 2014 Distinguished Music Teacher by the Oklahoma Music Teachers Association. He'll be Oklahoma's nominee for 2015 Teacher of the Year, a national award given by the Music Teachers National Association. Thomas adds that he presented a lecture entitled "Perspectives on Musicians' Health Issues" at the Conference on Arts and Education in Zacatecas, Mexico, in March, and taught two master classes at Southern Methodist University in Dallas in February. . . Phil Ying '92 (MM) (see '85).

1992 David Ying (DMA) (see '85). . . Janet Ying (see '85).

1997 Gustavo Tolosa (DMA) is director of the Dallas Music Academy and pianist in the three-person ensemble, the Dallas Chamber Players, which also includes cellist Heather Moncrief Rivera-Torres and violinist Inga Kroll. Gustavo writes that the group self-released a CD of music from Argentina, Greetings from Argentina! Vol. 1. The release party for the CD took place at Dallas's Meyerson Symphony Center.

1998 Dariusz Terefenko (MM), '04 (PhD) has published Jazz Theory: From Basic to Advanced Study (Routledge). Dariusz is an associate professor of jazz studies and contemporary media at the Eastman School.

2001 Kyle Newmaster, a composer for television, film, and gaming, has composed the music for the motion picture Something Wicked—Original Motion Picture Soundtrack (Lakeshore Records) was released digitally in April.

2004 Dariusz Terefenko (PhD) (see '98).

2006 Ivan Trevino '10 (MM)
