Building Better Toys

CHANGING TECHNOLOGY: Rachel Monfredo, a lecturer and senior technical associate in the Department of Chemical Engineering, listens to a stuffed animal during a workshop in which students learned to alter toys so that children with disabilities could better interact with the playthings and the technology that's inherent in many modern toys. Monfredo helped organize the student group, Toys for All Tots, which this winter delivered a set of adapted toys to children at a Medical Center clinic. PHOTOGRAPH BY J. ADAM FENSTER
