

ADVICE FROM FORMER (UNDERGRADUATE) LEADERS:

- Be prepared. Break down the information in the problems for yourself before class.
- Accept that your students for where they are in knowledge and understanding. Believe in everyone's potential.
- Forget what you think about how one learns. Think about how your students can learn.
- Be aware of individual differences.
- Bring food. It makes the atmosphere more relaxed.
- Be patient. Students need to buy into the workshop approach.
- Be careful what you say and how you act.
- Have confidence in yourself.
- Make use of your resources.
- Enjoy the experience!
