UNIVERSITY OF ROCHESTER MEDICAL CENTER
LEADERSHIP DEVELOPMENT PROGRAM

This program offers both instructor-led classes and online learning.
May 2020

→ Locate dates, times and registration in MyPath by searching the class title, unless otherwise noted

Leaders with direct reports in all divisions of the University of Rochester, Medical Center, and affiliates are welcome to attend.

Some sessions include Medical Center-specific content and are indicated by “URMC” in the title.

URMC New Leader Orientation

Open to newly hired and promoted URMC leaders of people (assistant manager, manager, and above with direct reports), this session will inspire, engage, and connect new leaders to the URMC mission, vision, values, key strategic initiatives, and to provide an introduction to the leadership role and expectations within the organization.

New leaders in URMC divisions of Strong Memorial Hospital, School of Medicine and Dentistry, School of Nursing, Medical Faculty Group, Eastman Institute of Oral Health, and Health Sciences are encouraged to attend within two months of starting the new role. The same session is repeated each month.

Management & Leadership

Track 1: Management Essentials

These classes are designed to help build the foundational knowledge required for newly hired and promoted leaders to be successful in leading their teams and the organization.

New leaders are encouraged to attend all classes with the Pillars icon.

Online classes are designated with the Computer icon.

URMC Past, Present and Future

Participants will explore the organizational structure of URMC and its evolution as a health care system. In this class leaders build on their skills to better execute their responsibilities by more fully understanding the priorities of the organization. These organizational priorities relate to high-quality Health Care service delivery, patient and family engagement, and our commitment to creating a high-performing workplace that is attractive in recruiting and retaining health care providers and workers. Led by SMH Executive VP & Chief Operating Officer, Kathy Parrinello.

This class is available in either an online or instructor-led format.

Ethical and Legal Obligations in the Hiring Process

This online module provides any employee involved in the hiring and recruitment process with baseline ethical and legal responsibilities as outlined by University policy. As a key influencer in the hiring process, it highlights your obligation to create fair and equitable access to job opportunities and fosters skills that assist you in making the most effective hiring decisions. THIS MODULE IS REQUIRED FOR ANY STAFF MEMBER INVOLVED IN INTERVIEWING APPLICANTS FOR OPEN POSITIONS.

NEW! Diversity Education Classes
The Office for Inclusion and Culture offers a number of programs to help provide education and professional development for medical center leaders and staff.

❖ Intro to Micro-Aggressions and Implicit Bias (Part 1)
Participants will learn the concept and existence of unconscious bias in relation to race and ethnicity, using an evidence-based approach. This class will identify strategies for minimizing participants own unconscious biases.

❖ Micro-Aggressions and Ally-ship: Understanding and Reacting (Part 2)
Participants will learn ways to create a culture and climate that nurtures everyone to work towards their fullest potential. We will also identify how implicit bias and micro-aggressions occur in academic contexts while learning Ally-ship and advocacy techniques. Note: This is a follow-up class to Intro to Micro-aggressions and Implicit Bias and should be taken after completing part 1.

Labor Relations Training for Leaders
This training curriculum is comprised of 4 different classroom sessions geared towards preparing Managers and Supervisors in their role as it relates to the larger organization and overseeing a Unionized staff. Topics in this series will include: Labor Relations terminology, the implications of past practice, interactions with Union Delegates, conducting investigation meetings, the grievance process, the impact of an arbitration and the criteria used by arbitrators in rendering decisions, the process of filling Union (SEIU) positions, and an employee's probationary period. Led by members of the Labor Relations team. Search “Labor Relations Training for Leaders” in MyPath to enroll in this learning series.

Managing the Effects of Change on Employee Engagement
Participants are provided with an overview of the change process and steps leaders can take to promote engagement and trust within their teams during times of organizational change. This class is presented by members of the HR Business Partner team.

Performance Management Mini-Series:
This series of four classes will provide the skills, knowledge, and techniques for managing employee performance. Classes can be taken in any order.

❖ Creating Accountability & Setting Expectations
Explore your role as a leader by understanding your rights and responsibilities for creating accountability within your team. Discuss performance standards and how to clearly set these expectations. To assist employees in reaching their full potential, managers will define and learn about setting these performance standards as well as analyzing and addressing performance gaps. This class is presented by members of the HR Business Partner team.

❖ Conducting the Performance Review
This class will explore the phases of the performance management cycle including preparing, writing, and delivering employee performance reviews. Overviews of the performance review components, rating scales, properly written comments, common performance review pitfalls, and techniques to keep employees aligned throughout the year will be provided. This class is available in either an online or instructor-led format.

❖ Creating and Managing Performance Goals
Effectively written performance goals can engage staff, foster collaboration, and improve outcomes. Performance goals that are aligned with the organizational strategy will keep your team working toward our common goals. Managers should ensure that their individual goals – as well as those of their direct reports – are in line with the overarching strategy. This session will review the key concepts behind writing SMART, aligned performance goals and keeping the focus throughout the year. Led by leaders in Learning & Development.

❖ Giving Effective Feedback
This class focuses on how to deliver feedback effectively with tact and sensitivity. The ability to facilitate these conversations is an essential skill for leaders which in turn promotes increased trust, stronger work relationships, and better performance. Led by leaders in Learning and Development.
Values Driven Leadership 101
Learn how to develop and maintain a work environment with clear expectations by using effective communication, role modeling, and positive reinforcement. This class is presented by members of the ICARE Commitment Office.

Management & Leadership
Track 2: Leadership Enhanced
These classes are designed to support URMC leaders by providing practical and conceptual skills needed to align our work with the organization's business goals and manage the phases of the employee lifecycle, from recruiting through off-boarding.

Attendance in Track 2 is based on role; please attend if classes are related to your current position.

Developing Your Direct Reports
Developing Your Direct Reports is an online course in which participants will learn "development coaching". So what's the difference between performance management and development coaching? Performance management is focused on eliminating the weaknesses of the past and present. Development coaching, on the other hand, targets employee strengths as the basis for future performance and the achievement of long-term goals. And the other major difference? It requires the direct and regular involvement of the manager.

Coaching for Development
In this online course, an excellent companion module to “Developing Your Direct Reports,” participants will learn the key elements of building a successful coaching relationship and how to best implement them using a step-by-step coaching process. Effective strategies for overcoming common coaching challenges are also provided. In addition, participants will learn how to help employees implement a development plan to improve their success.

Creating a Respectful Workplace
This instructor-led class challenges participants to explore the factors that make up respectful workplaces. Group discussion and exercises focus on personal values, workplace respect, effective communication and civility. This class is presented by members of the ICARE Commitment Office.
Leadership Enhanced

Privacy, Professionalism & Work Relationships in an Age of Social Media
This class challenges the participant to think critically about professional boundaries in all settings while forming meaningful relationships that improve the quality of their work. This class is led by a representative from the Office of Human Resources.

Process Improvement for Leaders
This course is designed for leaders to gain awareness and understanding of how to best support and sponsor process improvement projects. A variety of topics such as coaching, navigation through barriers, and the role of a sponsor within the project will be discussed. Leaders will get a brief introduction to the Lean Process Improvement Framework to create a common language and understanding of concepts to share with their staff who attend the Lean Performance Improvement Level 1 course. Led by members of the Operations Excellence team.

Values Driven Leadership 201
Effective leaders establish and maintain a culture that reinforces the values of the organization and promotes employee engagement. Explore how your leadership behaviors influence the overall performance of your team and why they are necessary in developing the steps needed to ensure success. This class is presented by members of the ICARE Commitment Office.

Additional Learning & Development Opportunities:
